1. Claims 1,3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims lack the steps of the method for placing products in a moving media where inserting the product item restates the placing of products in the moving media. The steps of the method to achieve the insertion of the product have not been defined. Without clearly defining the invention these claims read on any product placement in any type of medium.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

3. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being clearly anticipated by Freeman, "Eyemark Expands Virtually" Mediaweek, vol. 9, n. 7, pp.9(1) 2/15/99.

The article teaches the virtual product placement claimed.

4. Claims 1,3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being clearly anticipated by Ross, "Warner Bros. To Test 'Virtual' Ad Concept: TV Group Would Be First Big Syndicator to Use Technology" Advertising Age, 5/17/99.

The article teaches the virtual product placement claimed.

5. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being clearly anticipated by Battaglio, "'Virtual' Product Placing Gets Real in UPN" Hollywood Reporter, vol. 357, no. 4, p. 1, 3/25/99.

The article teaches the virtual product placement claimed.

6. Claims 1,3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being clearly anticipated by "Special FX Marketing" US Distribution Journal (5/1999).

The article teaches the virtual product placement claimed.

7. Claims 1,3-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being clearly anticipated by "Virtual Ads, Real Problems" Advertising Age, 5/24/99.

The article teaches the virtual product placement claimed including the selling of the placement of products which inherently includes the steps of dividing the time over which the content is released into a plurality of time slots since this step is necessary for determining "later airing".

8. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Sitnik.

Sitnik teaches a method for placing products in a moving media as claimed (see at least col. 2, lines 15-30, 40-55, col. 4, lines 5-35, col. 8, lines 35-55, col. 9, lines 10-67)

Art Unit: 2165

9. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

10. Claims 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Virtual Ads, Real Problems in view of Sitnik, patent number 6,160,570.

The article teaches a method of selling the placement of products, but does not teach selling based on geographic versions or the channel version (medium).

Sitnik teaches product placement based on geographic versions and channel versions (see at least col. 4, lines 5-35, col. 8, lines 35-60, col. 9, lines 10 – col. 10, line 5). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have sold product placement in view of geographic regions and the channel type since these parameters would have been adopted for the intended use of reaching the target audience.
